1. Do you believe that you are a member of a minority group, however described, which is inadequately represented by the legal profession today, either because too few lawyers are drawn from that group or because lawyers generally are uninterested in representing that group? If your answer is "Yes," identify the minority group, describe in what way you believe it is inadequately represented by the legal profession, and describe how you think you can make a contribution to the solution of the problem. Use additional sheet if necessary.

2. Do you believe that any personal background factors have caused your LSAT scores or undergraduate grades to underpredict your ability to perform successfully in law school? Such factors might include, but are not limited to, physical handicap, English as a second language, quality of primary or secondary education, maturing non-academic experiences such as work experience, and ethnic and cultural factors by reason of which you have had less experience in dealing with culture-bound standardized tests. If your answer is "Yes," please identify and explain any such factors. It will be helpful if you could also identify a counselor, teacher, or other person who is aware of the factor and would be able to describe its extent. Use additional sheet if necessary.
