

Israel/Palestine: What's happening? What's next? And how do we talk about it?

Virtual Panel Discussion

Monday, October 16, 5:30 p.m. ET - Zoom

Panelists

Omar Dajani, professor of law,
University of the Pacific

Mira Sucharov, political scientist,
Carleton University

The last week has seen thousands in Israel/Palestine killed and wounded, following a massacre of Israelis by Hamas militants on Saturday morning and devastating Israeli air strikes against Palestinian neighborhoods in Gaza. This panel brings together a Palestinian American legal scholar and a Canadian Jewish political scientist who have spent the last two years intensively traveling to, and writing about, the region together. Join us for a session on the urgency of advancing the values of human life, equality, and freedom, as well as the challenges and opportunities of friendship across political communities.

Register Here

Co-Sponsors

Jewish Studies Program
Kenneth P. Dietrich School of Arts and Sciences
Center for Civil Rights and Racial Justice
Office of the Chancellor

